QMC announces key appointments to management team

Copper and gold explorer Queensland Mining Corporation Ltd (ASX: QMN) today announced the appointments of David Price and Guojian Xu to key project roles.

Mr Price will become General Manager, Project Development while Dr Xu – who has consulted to QMC for two years -- will assume the role of General Manager, Exploration and Business Development.

Managing Director Howard Renshaw said the appointments will position QMC for further growth and expansion as it develops its mining interests in Queensland's Cloncurry district.

“QMC is pleased to appoint somebody with David’s international experience to head up the development of our mining interests,” Mr Renshaw said.

He said Mr Price has developed several gold and copper exploration companies, guiding them to successful listings onto various stock exchanges.

“He brings 20 years experience as a geologist across South East Asia, Europe and Australia, and has specialised in gold and copper exploration, including relevant experience in the Cloncurry district,” Mr Renshaw said.

Mr Price is a Fellow of the Australasian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, a member of the Australasian Geoscientists and a member of the Australian Institute of Company Directors.

He said he was privileged to be joining QMC at such a critical point in the company’s operation and expansion plans.

Dr Xu also has more than 20 years experience in Australian and international mining, including technical and senior management roles with QMC, Xstrata, Sparton Resources and Queensland Epithermal Gold.

He holds a Master of Science in Economic Geology from the China University of Geosciences and PhD from James Cook University.

Dr. Xu has in-depth knowledge of exploration techniques and extensive experience in mineral resources in Australia (particularly Mt Isa), China, and Papua New Guinea.

He is a Member of the Australasian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and a Fellow of the Society of Economic Geologists.
